Sigma Solutions Announces Entry into the Rackspace Partner Network to Deliver Private, Public and Hybrid Cloud Solutions

Sigma Increases Investment in Cloud Strategy

SAN ANTONIO — December 26, 2013 — Sigma Solutions today announced that it has joined the Partner Network for Rackspace® Hosting, (NYSE: RAX), the open cloud company, to offer customers access to the Rackspace public, private and hybrid cloud offerings. Customers can enjoy the scalability and performance of the public cloud or gain the benefits of the cloud with single-tenant security on a dedicated server with the hybrid cloud offering.

“We have chosen to be a channel partner with Rackspace, as their Fanatical Support® has made them a cloud computing leader,” said John Flores, vice president, marketing and business development, Sigma Solutions. “Their reliable and scalable hosting solutions enable our customers to take advantage of the flexibility of the cloud without compromising security, performance or reliability.”

Sigma’s cloud offerings will include Infrastructure as a Service, Disaster Recovery as a Service, Storage as a Service, Backup as a Service and Hosted Collaboration Services that leverage our best-in-class partners including EMC, VMware, NetApp and more. This broad, integrated portfolio of cloud hosting offerings is built upon Rackspace’s enterprise hosting expertise and is supported by Sigma’s certified and experienced services team. Sigma is making significant investments in expanding its cloud practice by hiring both practice managers and a dedicated competency center manager. Additionally, Sigma’s CTO, Eli Khnaser, will be focused on developing and delivering technology offerings that will enable customers to reap the benefits of their cloud and end-user computing initiatives.

“We are excited to have Sigma as a channel partner,” said Chris Rallo, senior manager, Rackspace Partner Program. “Sigma’s expertise across the key data center technologies, broad visibility across the customer’s enterprise, reputation for delivering high quality service and support to their customers, and strong relationships with its vendor partners makes them an excellent fit for our strategic partner program.”
